November 2021

Editor's Note

Lucy Maud Montgomery said, "November is usually such a disagreeable month . . . as if the year had suddenly found out that she was growing old and could do nothing but weep and fret over it." Despite Lucy Maud's cranky dislike of this month, we can still find joy in photographing interesting vistas, albeit some with a gray and frosty pallor!

Happy shooting!

I want to take this opportunity to mention that, as the cold weather appears you might want to line up some different activities for the winter months.

Consider taking an on-line photography course, joining a study or discussion group, watching free webinars with well-known photographers, perhaps contact a mentor or consultant, dust off some of your portraits or creative images for individual competitions, why not create your own photo gallery, or maybe take advantage of some wonderful discounts. ALL these things are available to you for free when you become an individual member of the Photographic Society of America.

Let me know if I can be of any assistance...👍

Remember the upcoming 'Competition Review', on November 7th, and straight away...start collecting your set of images for the Silent Slide Essay!
